Registration Days At Point Loma High School

PRINCIPAL PETE W. ROSS
ANNOUNCES DATES FOR STUDENTS' ENROLLMENT

Principal Pete W. Ross, Mr. Swenson and Miss Williams will be at the Point Loma Junior Senior High School to register students as follows:

9th Grade—Wednesday, September 1, from nine to twelve o'clock.
10th Grade—Thursday morning, September 2.

11th Grade—Friday morning, September 3.
12th Grade—Saturday morning, September 4.

It is urged that all students come on the day their class group is registering, if at all possible.

Students in the 9th to 12th grades should not wait till school opens to register even though they made out tentative programs before school closed in June, as some changes may be necessary, and Principal Ross desires that every student be programmed to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

No 7th or 8th grade student, who was enrolled in a San Diego city school last year, should report before September 7th, the opening day of school.

Principal Ross calls attention to the fact that a school deposit of $3 for the 10th, 11th and 12th grades and of $2 for the 7th, 8th and 9th grades will be compulsory this year in all the city Junior and Senior high schools. This deposit will be returned at the end of the school year less any deduction which may be necessary for loss of school books or damage to school property. In addition there will be an associated student body fee of 75 cents for the Senior high and 50 cents for the Junior high students; this will entitle students to full membership in the A. S. B. and to free admission to football games and some A. S. B. activities during the fall semester; this is not compulsory.

All girl students must wear the regulation city school uniform. Their gym uniform will be designated for them by their physical instructor.

Schools open throughout the city Tuesday, September 7th.

PAVILION BARBER SHOP—Under personal direction of A. H. Maier. Skillful service, always.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY FOR KRAFT'S DRUG STORE

Fred H. Kraft is making extraordinary arrangements for the celebration on September 15 of the third anniversary of his popular drug at Bacon street and Newport avenue. The enterprising druggist promises some remarkable bargains for his customers.

FRANK H. HESKETT
FAVORS MODIFICATION OF
VOLSTEAD ACT

In the platform on which he is running for State Senator, Frank H. Heskett says in part:

"It is my belief that the Volstead act in its present form is out of joint with prevailing public opinion, and that because of this fact this law is neither respected nor obeyed by the majority of the American people. There will be an initiative measure on the ballot at the November election for the repeal of the Wright act. There is no more danger of the return of the saloon, in the event light wines and beer are legalized, than there is of the return of the bigotry and intolerance in the Christian churches, so prevalent in past generations. The people will not stand for a return of either."

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Shumway & McNeill, proprietors of the Bayview Bait House at 5044 West Pt. Loma boulevard, announce that their place is now opened for business with "everything for fishermen." The building has been remodelled and refurbished with a view to prompt and complete service.

IN AND ABOUT FIVE POINTS

Mrs. G. M. Selby, Secretary Civic League, Special Representative for "The Beach News"

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bergum, who have been vacationing through August at Pine Valley and in Los Angeles, have returned. Mr. Bergum is the owner of the Five Points Service Station leased by Mr. Walter Robertson. They are now living at 4184 Forty-fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crewe, who have conducted the Five Points Lunch Room, 3773 California street, for several years, are now at Ensenada, Old Mexico, investigating the restaurant possibilities there.

Mrs. Capitola Messich of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Messich, of Hollywood, visited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Selby over the week end. Mrs. Capitola Messich is a sister-in-law of Dr. Selby.

Mr. Ben Henefer, formerly in the employ of the Alameda distributors, has taken over the grease rack at the Five Points Service Station, and is prepared to give all customers expert grease service.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morse of Los Angeles are visiting at Five Points and prospecting for a new location as they plan to move to San Diego in the near future.

Mr. Larry Swartz, of Los Angeles, who has been investing in property at Five Points, is in San Diego a guest at the U. S. Grant Hotel. Mr. Swartz has not yet made public his plans for the upbuilding of Five Points.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clay and their two sons are here for a few days at their Five Points home from their desert home at Groffs. Mr. Clay was formerly proprietor of the Five Points Service Station, then called Clay's Service Station. He now has a restaurant, grocery and tourist camp at Groffs in the Mohave Desert, but maintains a home here also.

The traffic department has complied with the request of the Five Points Civic League that boulevard stops be made at the foot of California street and at the foot of Pringle street, the converging of La Jolla boulevard and California street at this place, making it rather a dangerous traffic point.

The new Five Points Market at the corner of Kettner boulevard and Pierce street, opened Saturday and the proprietors, Messrs. Charles Rick and Chris Speliakos, report themselves as more than pleased with their patronage. They have a wide auto parking space in front of their market, which is quite an advantage.

Mr. George Brattan, a newcomer to San Diego, and to Five Points, who has been associated with the Atlas Welding Co., has opened a temporary shop at the Travelers' Auto Camp, where he is working at his trade until his new shop is built on Kettner boulevard between Spruce and Sassafras streets.

Five Pointers are quietly jubilant at the prospect of ornamental street lights in the near future. Enough property owners have signed for cluster lights to insure their installation at Five Points, making this a brilliantly lighted section in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cornell, with their little daughter Jacqueline, have taken as their home the home at 3811 California street. Mr. Cornell has charge of the grocery store and the service station maintained at the Travelers' Auto Camp on Moore street, for the convenience of their guests.

Mrs. C. H. Webber, 3819 California street, has returned to her home after visiting with her husband, Lt. Webber, at Vallejo, where the Oklahoma, to which he is attached, has been stationed for the summer.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Luther are recovering from tonsillar operations performed recently at Five Points. Mr. Luther is stationed at the Marine Base, while Mr. Luther is the competent and courteous manager of the grocery store at Lowe's Auto Court on La Jolla boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howard are enjoying Mr. Howard's vacation driving their new Chevrolet sedan. Mr. Howard is an employee of the Five Points Service Station.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Selby, their son, Mr. Horace H. Selby, acting as chauffeur, motored to Ensenada last week, where Dr. and Mrs. Selby had their first view of this delightful little city and the beautiful bay. Mr. Horace Selby had flown down earlier in the summer and his enthusiasm over this charmingly located town was the incentive for the motor trip.

Norman, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Smith, of La Jolla, where Mr. Smith is a representative of the Prudential Life Insurance, cut his hand very badly, recently, a gash entirely across the back of his hand, which took seven stitches to close it. The child was attended at Five Points and his hand is healing nicely.

A large open air dining room for the convenience of the motoring public has just been built at the Travelers' Auto Camp.

Five Points Civic League

There were three candidates who were speakers at the last meeting of the Five Points Civic League, making it a very interesting meeting.

Mr. Johnson W. Puterbaugh, candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace, in San Diego township, was the first speaker.

Mr. Herman Freese, who desires to hold the office of Judge of the Superior Court, was the next speaker.

Mr. Edwin A. Mueller, who has served San Diego in the State Assembly, and is now a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator from the 40th District, was the last speaker.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. M. B. Keyser, vice-president of the Civic League, treated the members and guests to ice cream and coffee.

GRANADA THEATRE—
LA JOLLA

Rudolph Valentino, Charlie Chaplin, Clara Bow, Ernest Torrence, Percy Marmont, Aileen Pringle and Chester Conklin, in stories by E. M. Hull, Sinclair Lewis, and Lloyd Sheldon, are the pieces de resistance that the Granada Theatre at La Jolla is offering its patrons for the week starting Saturday, August 28.

Lloyd Sheldon's story of the oil fields, "Flaming Waters," will be the featured attraction today (Saturday) both matinee and night. Malcolm McGregor, Pauline Garon and Mary Carr are the featured players.

"A Dog's Life," one of the pictures that made Charlie Chaplin what he is today, is the co-featured attraction, with "The Wilderness Woman," starring Aileen Pringle with Chester Conklin, for next Sunday and Monday. "A Dog's Life" is the first of a series of pictures that are to be brought back to the Granada to satisfy the demands of those who had never seen them as well as those who had, but wished to do so again. "The Wilderness" is highly amusing and decidedly ideal for the Sunday and Monday theatre goer.

The first Southern California showing of Sinclair Lewis' novel, "Mantrap," will take place at the Granada on Tuesday and Wednesday, with Clara Bow, Ernest Torrence and Percy Marmont in the chief roles. "Mantrap" has been hailed by critics "the most unusual story ever written of the love of two men for a woman." An Educational comedy and a fable will also be shown.

Rudolph Valentino's last picture, "The Son of the Sheik," is the featured attraction for Thursday and Friday. In "The Son of the Sheik" which is a sequel to "The Sheik" and by the same author, Valentino returns to the type of role that made him famous years ago. Vilma Banky, "the Hungarian" rhapsody of the screen, plays opposite the star. Others in the cast are Montague Love, Agnes Ayers, Karl Dane and George Fawcett.

The week starting Sunday, September 5th has been designated as "Paramount Week," and the Granada announces the showing of four of Paramount's latest and best releases: "You Never Know Women," with Florence Vidor and Clive Brooks; "Born to the West," by Zane Grey and with Jack Holt and Arlette Marchel; "Aloma of the South Seas," with Warner Baxter, Gilda Gray and Percy Marmont, and the "Showoff," with Ford Sterling and Lois Wilson.

BETTY SEYMOUR SAYS

BARNET AVENUE WILL BE

IDEAL BOULEVARD

It is announced that Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur will be in San Diego September 4, 5 and 6 to officiate at the planting of the trees along the Marine Base and Barnett avenue. Brig. Gen. Smedley Butler has plans for making the Marine Base as beautiful as Balboa Park and similar in its landscaping to the Naval Training Station.

"When this work is completed San Diego will have one long beautiful boulevard from Point Loma to Five Points," says Miss Betty Seymour, a member of the civic improvement committee of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce.

BOULEVARD STOPS

THROUGH BEACH DISTRICTS

On motion of Councilman Louis Maire, the council this week instructed City Attorney Higgins to include in the new traffic ordinance a clause making La Jolla boulevard a boulevard stop, clear through from India street to the city limits, near Del Mar.

SHERIFF BYERS PERFECTS

SMOOTH-WORKING ORGANIZATION SINCE TAKING OFFICE

Running a jail as he would a corporate business is the distinction which Sheriff James C. Byers has won for himself in the eight years since he first took office, with no increase in office force, although nearly 300 per cent increase in business. Byers has perfected one of the most smooth working organizations in the county government.

A well educated man, with humane ideas and a gentleman, Byers put to the test his theories that county business could be run the same as any other corporate business, and found these theories sound. Today he has a jail and a sheriff's office running like clockwork, himself the head, with departmental heads, his deputies, responsible for their different departments, making him daily reports, so that he is in intimate touch with the work of his business at all times. During his entire term of office he has added but three to the original staff, two of them taking care of the border work, a department which had practically been untouched before, and the other, an assistant jail matron.

A recent report submitted by Jailer H. L. Hubbell, discloses that the business of the jail has increased 300 per cent in eight years. During that time 14,587 prisoners have been cared for, 2,905 of them alone being sent to the jail in 1925. In 1919 there were only 848 prisoners in the jail. The increase of jail inmates means a proportionate increase in every department of the Sheriff's office, and it has all been taken care of without a hitch.

A noticeable characteristic of the Sheriff's office today is the high class of personnel which Byers has gathered around him. This is reflected in the manner in which the business is carried on and the conduct of the jail officials toward the public, which is always one of courtesy and helpfulness.

COSTUME CARNIVAL

WILL MARK OPENING OF

S. D. COUNTY FAIR

What promises to be the best evening of entertainment offered to San Diegans for many months will be the opening of the San Diego county fair in Balboa park on the night of September 14. The opening on that date is designed as an entire evening of fun and amusement, enhanced by a carnival spirit, and the night will be devoted to general merrymaking.

After the opening night, the fair will continue, afternoon and evening, September 15, 16, 17 and 18 with larger agricultural and industrial displays than ever before and greatly enlarged county exhibits.

Climaxing a series of elopements that have stirred Washington society, Miss Mary Bickers and Henri L. J. de Sibour, son of Viscount de Sibour, were quietly married in Baltimore cathedral. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William M. Webb of Washington. Mr. de Sibour has long been noted for his prowess in athletics, and was coach both in baseball and football at Yale.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT

For the first time since the World war, Col. Theodore Roosevelt the other day donned a uniform. He was assigned to a fifteen-day training period at the Plattsburg barracks with the Twenty-sixth, the same regiment that he was attached to during the war when on duty in France.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

Motorists who were stopped by traffic officers at Merced recently, received unexpected treatment. The county chamber of commerce distributed a ton and a half of Elberta peaches to tourists enroute to Yosemite National park. The services of a squad of state motor policemen were enlisted. As automobiles rounded the corner of G and Twenty-first streets, Inspector James Morrison halted each with a determined look on his face. Expressions of dismay changed quickly to delight as the officers handed each driver a basket of peaches.

Charles Brown, 92, champion fiddler of Novato, is anxious to meet in competition the fiddlers of Sonoma county. That the aged fiddler may have brought to a fruition his lifelong ambition, the directors of the Marin County Fair and Harvest Festival have decided to aid him by offering a prize for the best fiddler. The contest will be held during the three days, August 20, 21 and 22, that the Marin County Fair and Harvest Festival will be in progress at Novato. All fiddlers 60 years of age and over are eligible to compete.

Marking the last resting place of Shasta county's oldest pioneer, a bronze tablet has been placed over the grave of Major Pierson B. Reading in a little cemetery located near Major Reading's original adobe house. Reading came to California in 1843 and received a large grant of land from Governor Manuel Micheltoreno for his services in assisting in putting down an insurrection. He participated in the Sonoma convention in 1846, at which the independence of California was declared. He died in 1868.

J. J. Mitchell, Tulare, city tax collector and assessor, completed the 1926 tax roll showing a total gain in the assessed valuation of taxable property within the city limits to be $273,810. The total assessed valuation of all property within the city is $4,773,915 as compared with the 1925 total of $4,500,105. The largest increase during the past year was in new buildings, representing a gain of $229,510. Personal property increased $30,210 in value, and land values showed a gain of only $4,085.

Farmers in the Riverbank district have taken the initial steps to form a water users' association, since it is apparent that the irrigation supply is acutely short this season. Bruce C. Hill, large farmer, is secretary of the organization. A number of huge pumps will be placed in the Stanislaus river to throw water into the canals and thus help this section of the county. A number of private plants will also be utilized to pump water directly into the ditches.

George A. Wanamaker, pioneer drayman and widely known citizen of Grass valley, died at the age of 85 years after a long illness. Wanamaker had been a member of the volunteer fire department for sixty years or more, being the patriarch of the department, and on the retired list only during the last few years. He came from Nova Scotia as a young man and had lived at his home on North Auburn Street continuously since.

Yolo county properties are shown to have increased, in assessed value, approximately half a million dollars within the last year in assessment rolls prepared by County Assessor Byron P. Hillhouse. The total assessment for the current year is $27,425,159, as compared with $26,931,750 for last year. Real estate values, inside incorporated areas, total $984,895 and improvements $2,410,410. Farm property is assessed at $17,105,450.

The new Yosemite All-Year Highway between Merced and Yosemite valley was thrown open July 31, by Governor Friend W. Richardson, following ceremonies at Clark's Ranch near the quaint and historic old mining town of Mariposa. The new road shortens the trip to Yosemite by more than three hours and eliminates the high mountain grades. It makes Yosemite easily accessible to motorists 365 days of the year.

Secretary Chas. W. Paine of the California State Fair, says the class of horses that are to compete at the coming State Fair, September 4th to 11th, are the best that have contested for the purses in the last ten years. The entries which recently closed for the purse races contain some of the best trotters and pacers on the Pacific Coast and give promise of some gruelling heats being contested.

Four beacon lights of the rotating type to direct air mail planes, with a total of approximately 5,000 horsepower, are being installed on top of El Capitan Hotel, the tallest building in Merced. The lights will direct the planes of the Pacific Air Transport Company, which has the air mail route between Seattle and Los Angeles. The planes will pass Merced at night at an elevation of 3,000 feet.

The new grape shipping plan, which originated with the American Railway Association, representing practically all of the railroads in the United States, for the main purpose of benefiting the grower, was fully discussed by Donald Conn, public relations manager for the American Railway Association, at a meeting held in Lodi a short time ago.

The enrollment in the elementary schools of Placer county last year increased 101 pupils to make a total of 3,267.

Five thousand dollars' appropriation to rush through the construction of an airport in Bakersfield was urged in an emergency resolution passed by the Board of Supervisors of Marin county at the request of Marvelous Marin, the county development association, has provided a $13,000 fund to be used in advertising Marin county during 1927.

The annual convention of California city and county school superintendents has been called by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, to meet at Lake Tahoe the week beginning October 4.

An architect is preparing plans for a one-story reinforced concrete school building, with tile roof, for the Lower Lake Union High School district, Lake county. It will have eight classrooms, and will cost about $45,000.

Preparations are being made to ask for bids for a new $100,000 high school building as a result of the recent successful bond election held for this purpose. It will replace the structure destroyed five years ago by fire.

Indians may register and vote in state and municipal election, providing they are not living in tribal relations, Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled. Bridgeport, California, where large numbers of Indians reside, sought the ruling.

The Oakdale Irrigation district is developing an additional 25 second feet of water for irrigation to make good the shortage in the Stanislaus river, at this time, by the use of electrical and gasoline plants now scattered over the district.

With the new bank building and the Community Hall at Newcastle nearing completion, and work in progress on the $20,000 addition to the Newcastle Grammar School, Newcastle, is experiencing the greatest building boom in several years.

John S. Taylor, Santa Rosa, pioneer of '49, who participated in California's first Admission celebration and who has never missed voting for 74 years in California, is looking forward to casting his vote again at the August primary. He is now 97.

Indicating an increase in tourist travel in California during the late spring and early summer, state gasoline taxes for the three months ending June 30th, last, total $4,522,320.90, as compared to $4,065,589.90 for the same period a year ago.

Statistics compiled by Miss M. L. Richmond, county superintendent of schools of Kings county, show that the average attendance in the elementary schools last year was 4,061 as compared with 4,017 the previous year. The number of teachers in the elementary schools is 148, including six special teachers. The annual cost per pupil in elementary schools is $76.12.

Lassen county is ready to receive more than 2,000 members of the California American Legion, who will gather at Susanville on August 16 for their 1926 convention. The task of housing the visitors has proved so great that quarters are being arranged in cars on the railroad siding to care for the overflow. A trout dinner and an old-time steer barbecue are among the features planned.

With development of the Sacramento valley and advertisement of its prosperity and opportunities to prospective settlers in other states as chief objectives, the Sacramento Region Citizens' Council, Inc., was formed recently at Willows, and will meet August 24 at Auburn, Placer county, to perfect organization and expand its scope to include the twenty-one northern counties of the state.

The supervisors of Stanislaus county have voted to submit a proposition at the November election for provision for a special tax to raise $287,500 for the erection of American Legion memorial halls throughout the county. Buildings would be erected at Oakdale, at an estimated cost of $40,000; Patterson, $35,000; Riverbank, $17,500; Newman, $45,000; Turlock, $50,000; Modesto, $100,000.

Forty-four slogans descriptive of Auburn have been received in the prize contest being conducted by the Auburn Chamber of Commerce, according to announcement by S. G. Malcolm, president, who states the final award for the best slogan will not be made until September 1st. The time-limit for receiving slogans has not expired, and those coming in during August will receive consideration, he states.

Mud Creek's overflow between McCloud and Bartle continues to block vehicular travel between the two towns and cuts off travel from Fall River valley. In the early morning the creek is low, for the coolness of the night checks the outpouring from the melting glacier high up Mt. Shasta's eastern slope. The stream of mud comes in gushes at times, probably being dammed temporarily somewhere upstream.

The Sogel and Day packing plant, just completed on the site of the plant that burned a year ago, packed out its first car of grapes July 30 and has started up again for a long run. John T. Baillie, local manager, expects to pack 300 or more cars during the season.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company has commenced rebuilding its power line between Volta and Paio Cedro, a distance of twenty miles. The cost will be $25,000. The Volta power house was the first to be built in Shasta county. It was erected in 1899.

SWEETHEART ILL, ANXIOUS SUITOR AIRMAILS SELF

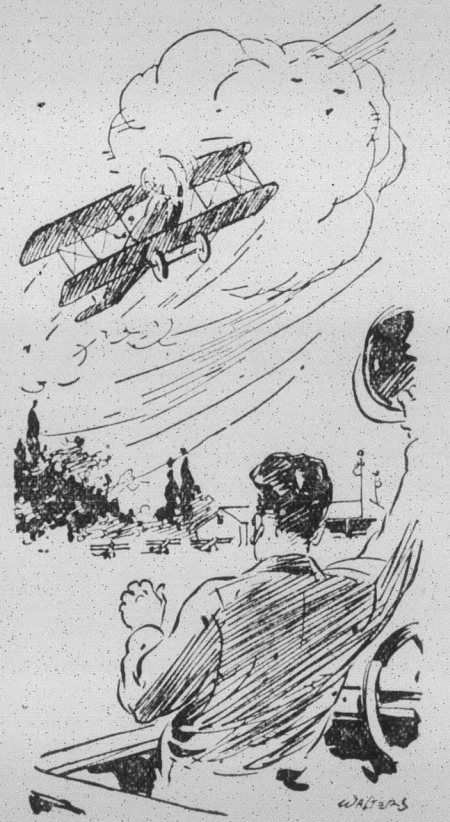

Fort Worth Man Arrives in Chicago Bringing Love Words of Rival.

Chicago.—Love, it has been said, will find a way.

That is how it happened that Joe Gerock of Fort Worth, Texas, anxious to reach the bedside of his sweetheart, Miss Beta Leggett, an Art Institute student, who is dangerously ill in St. Elizabeth's hospital here, airmailed himself to Chicago.

He made the trip riding in one of the Dallas-to-Chicago mail planes, sitting so close that he felt the terrific heat of the motors, and arrived apparently none the worse for the experience, with the possible exception of a rather inky face.

Mother Fails to Get Plane. The telegram that advised Mrs. Beta Dittmar of Fort Worth that her daughter's death was momentarily expected, sent the mother on a frantic search for a plane that she might charter to make the trip. Failing, she took the first train, reaching Chicago next morning.

News of the girl's condition, following an operation for appendicitis sent Gerock and Charles Fox, his rival for her affections, to the postal authorities for permission to ride in the mail plane. They obtained a permit for one passenger only.

Gerock Wins the Place. There followed hours of debate as to which should use the permit. Finally, Gerock won. Fox drove the winner to the flying field in his own car, shook hands with him as the plane took off. Then Fox, saying, "Tell her I love her," fainted. He was taken to a hospital, where he is recovering. Fox's message, Gerock said, was duly delivered when he was admitted to see Miss Leggett.

Mountain Toppling Under Pressure of Glacier

Cordova, Alaska.—A mountain northeast of here is being literally toppled over by pressure of a glacier at its base. Henry Wolkins, pioneer Alaskan, said on returning from a survey of the district.

Wolkins made an inspection following reports that a volcano was in eruption. He said the dust cloud arising from tons of rock sliding from the mountain peak had been mistaken for smoke.

On the mountainside farthest from the glacier masses of rock of from 500 to 2,000 tons intermittently crash down to a valley below with a deafening roar, Wolkins said. The glacier has buckled and crashed.

The mountain has the appearance of having been blasted with dynamite. A crack 400 feet long, 3,000 feet deep and 6 inches to 2 feet wide has been made in the soft shale of the mountain by the glaciers' pressure.

Turkish Women Barred From Political Parties

Constantinople, Turkey.—In spite of all that has been written about feminine emancipation and intellectual advancement in Turkey, Moslem women still are refused admission to political parties and play a very minor role in the social, political and intellectual life of the new republic.

They do not yet enjoy the right to vote or to hold political office. Halide Edib Hanum, wife of the former mayor of Constantinople, who was educated at the American Girls' college in Constantinople, is the only exception to this. She once held a post in the ministry of education under Mustapha Kemal Pasha. All other Turkish women remain in political obscurity.

Nezihah Moubieddin Hanum, president of the Turkish Women's union, insists that women in Turkey be given the same rights as men.

Angora Cats Doomed

WHAT TO EAT

THE daily problem of thinking up something reasonable, seasonable and economical with a minimum of work is not an easy thing for the housewife who has everything to do.

Some find the breakfast a hard meal to plan with variety. As it should be a simple meal the food served should be reasonably digestible. In general the favored breakfast menu is, to begin with, fruit, then a cereal either cooked or prepared, eggs or bacon, toast or muffins, sausage and cakes, depending upon the season of the year.

For luncheon, if dinner is served at night, some simple hot dish like macaroni and cheese, scalloped potatoes, hot potato salad, baked potatoes, codfish or a fish chowder. This meal depends too, upon the season, as to variety.

For a hot-weather luncheon a good potato salad with sliced cold meat, muffins or rolls, peaches and cream with cookies, make a good one. In cold weather a hot soup is always a good beginning and often the main dish for luncheon. Those who have cultivated the taste for them, like cold fruit soups which are especially liked in warm weather.

For dinner a vegetable soup, roast beef, spinach, lettuce salad and ice cream with cakes and coffee.

If dinner is served at noon and supper at night the supper dishes may follow the same plan as the luncheon menus.

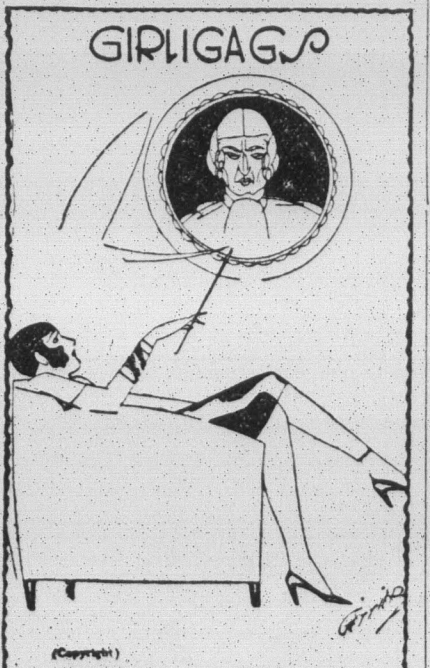

Banana Lemon Whip.

Roll together two cups of water, two cups of sugar, the grated rind of a lemon until it hairs from the spoon. Soften one package of gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of water and add to the hot sirup. Stir until dissolved, then add the sifted pulp of four ripe bananas and the juice of two lemons. Pour into a large bowl to cool and when it begins to harden, beat the mixture with a large-sized Dover egg beater. Continue to beat until the whole is foamy, then pour into a mold and set away to chill. Serve piled in sherbet glasses.

Tuna Fish Salad.

Take one can of tuna, add twice as much celery cut fine, as fish, cover with a tart salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

SINCE I HAVE YOU

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

SINCE I have you I find a deeper azure

In bending skies, I had not seen before,
And every hour I find a deeper pleasure

In every woodland and on every shore.

What once were ferns are now the fairest laces,
And fields have roses, and the roses dew—Ah, there is sweetness in the quiet places
I never knew.

Since I have you I find a sudden kindness

In other hearts, and kindness in my own.

Yes, now I know the depth of human blindness,
And know that I myself had never known.

I draw long breaths, for life is now like wine is,

All women beautiful, all brothers true.

If life is ever like to heaven, mine is,
Since I have you.

I never knew—but should the skies be thunder,

The woodland dark, the shore a stormy sea,

Still would my heart be filled with radiant wonder

At this new world that you reveal to me.

For, should the world, the world of men, desert me,

The skies be leaden now so fairly blue,

No storm could frighten me, no hurt could hurt me,

Since I have you.

FOR THE GOOSE—

IT USED to be easier to get a proposal out of a man in the old days. By the time he sat on one of them horsehair sofas long enough, the poor guy had to have some outlet for his feelings.

Women like the raw recruits to fall in love with them. But they fall in love with the trained campaigners.

There's one woman that always thinks the bride is old well and that's the groom's mother.

When a feller serenades you, it might only mean that his father just give him a new ukulele.

FOR THE GANDER—

Women don't always love the men that can do things for 'em. But they hate to give 'em up.

These days a handful of wise cracks seem to get you farther than a bushel of real learning.

A cheap way to get rid of a guy that wants to borrow a hundred dollars off you is to give him a present of ten.

A cat has nine lives. But even a cat's got more sense than to try and lead two of them at once.

Here is the platform on which I am running for district attorney: If elected, it will be my endeavor to devote all the knowledge, all the training, all the experience, all the energy, courage and wisdom I may possess to the task of administering the office of district attorney so that no man or group of men, shall be shielded more than anyone else or punished more than anyone else; that friend or foe shall get a square deal according to my best judgment; to endeavor to select subordinates as capable and honest as I can obtain; to have the civil end of the office administered as wisely and honestly as the office is capable of doing; and to strive for as great economy in office as is consistent with efficiency.

And to this task I promise to dedicate all my powers.

The new cement block on Voltaire street is nearly finished, and will be a fine addition to this street. It will have a modern pool room, a barber shop, and a large store besides.

Another cement block is to be built on the corner of Voltaire and Cable streets, to be two stories. It will contain business stores. This upper end of Ocean Beach is coming fast now.

There does not seem to be a great deal of enthusiasm in the coming election; some radical changes are demanded to bring voters out. One of the first is ward representation, so all parts will have a fair show. San Diego is no longer a village. ZENAS.

BALBOA THEATER

Following out the intention of West Coast Greater Movie Season for the largest and best pictures available, another great production will be seen at Balboa Theatre starting Friday, when Milton Sills, stars in "Men of Steel."

Sills declares "Men of Steel" is the greatest picture he has ever appeared in, barring none, and it is rarely that Sills speaks thus about any of his pictures.

Fanchon and Marco will present a "Specialty Idea," that for diversification of entertainment, it has no equal. An entirely new feature to Balboa stage is brought by the Ayres Brothers, known as "The Tornadoes," for their skating ability. This is a whirlwind feature of real entertainment merit.

The Gibson Sisters are two dancers, who feature the new song number "Rosie and Her Sisters". They are accompanied by a singer who specializes the song "hit" during the dance.

Frank Stevens returns to Balboa Theatre, following his former success in the "Aztec Idea," in which he played the role of Montezuma. Mr. Stevens has a rich baritone voice and is a favorite singer with K N X broadcasting station listeners.

Ward and Samuels are two youngsters age 10 and 14 years, who do an adagio dance. Advance notices give the youthful pair favorable mention.

George Stolberg and his Greater Band will be featured in the "Specialty Idea", with a musical program of colorful numbers, handled symphonically in Stolberg's own inimitable method, for which he has established a prestige throughout the entire city.

CABRILLO THEATER

Owing to the demand for further showing of the last and greatest of Rudolph Valentino's pictures, "The Son of the Sheik," will be shown at Cabrillo Theatre for three days only, starting Friday.

On Monday, "The Far Cry," will resume its regular schedule as the feature picture arranged for the week.

Balbani, the Italian youth whose screen genius earned him a directorship in First National pictures, exhibits his first effort in "The Far Cry."

Others in the cast are Myrtle Stedman, Jack Mulhall and Hobart Bosworth. June Mathis exercised editorial supervision.

Raymond Golden will be heard in a group of musical numbers at the organ. Kinograms and other short reels are included in the program.

Ruth Varin and her Girl Band will lengthen out their engagement at Cabrillo Theatre for a second week, owing to the many requests that have been sent to Manager H. L. Hartman, for this popular aggregation of girl musicians.

He Stayed Out the Storm

By MARTHA WILLIAMS

(Copyright)

NEWTON was weather-hardened, but also weather-wise. Hence the wind mounting rapidly to half-hurricane strength, drove him to the nearest shelter, albeit its outer aspect was unpromising. Came a snap as of drawn bolts—immediately the door blew wide open. He heard a voice saying tremulously: "Come in—I can't shut the door."

A girl's voice—but it was a figure in overalls that the candle set upon a high mantelpiece at one side of the hall, revealed when he had cleared his eyes enough for seeing. "The storm beat you. I was so afraid you'd not venture through it," she said as Newton was barring and bolting the door. Baring his head, he wheeled swiftly, saying: "I see you mistake me for a friend. Instead I'm a stranger—but quite, quite harmless. Please give me shelter until the storm lulls."

"That will be tomorrow—maybe even next day," the girl said, her tone faintly startled. "But you can stay, of course. Father wouldn't let a dog stay outside in such weather—unless he knew it was mad."

"May I thank him for hospitality so providential?" Newton asked. She led him silently past the light, flung open a door, revealing a cavernous, fire-lit room, and said: "Here's a stranger, father!" and at once vanished. The fire-shine showed a man, tall, upright by help of crutch and staff, who said after a measuring look: "Sir, you are welcome. Your name and business, please?"

"Newton—from everywhere. Looker for pretty near everything. Water power, timber, oil, minerals. Not a promoter, understand—merely find what other men may buy and sell," Newton explained, advancing to take the hand outstretched to him.

"Seeing so much, you should be worth seeing yourself," the host answered.

Before Newton could answer there came the clatter of a falling door bar. "So! That old did get here!" the host all but snarled. "Go outside, please, and see that he feels your horse."

But again in the hall Newton would have fallen upon the waxed floor but for a timely clutch of his arm. "Mind your eye, Mister Man. An' run back to the Old One," a young man was saying. "Tell him not to worry—I'm going to outstay this storm."

"Do they live alone—the Westovers?" Newton asked.

"Yes and no," his rescuer flung back. "Got croppers of course. But the last one of 'em wants a year's profit to do a hand's turn—besides what he can steal—which is right considerable much—so I've warned the lot of 'em off."

"What a life for a girl!" Newton ejaculated.

"Not of she's born right—as Ellie was. Grewed up in overalls 'cause Old Man was so crazy for a son. She wears 'em yet, though she's got some few women-clothes—and looks finer'n silk in 'em. Ye see, they're land poor—got so much taxes it keeps the Old Man strapped. Yet he won't sell an acre—entailed it all in his will, on Ellie's sons, though she's ter have the use."

"I see. You'll marry her—lucky fellow," Newton smiled.

The youth opposite him, sunburned, and somewhat weakened, sighed faintly: "Maybe so, but not unless she never gits a better chance. I'm jest Demps Todd, a plumb nobody. She'd be a queen only ain't never been a queen so fine."

Newton stayed out the storm—almost a week. In result, Westland became thenceforward his headquarters for the winter—to the great content of everybody. Demps Todd became likewise a fixture. Between them they persuaded Elaine to wear her women clothes. By consequence she bloomed often into breath-taking beauty. Life was easier, Newton had craftily led Old Man to sell prime timber, sure to lose if left standing longer. Thus the place was brought into fair repair, Demps and Newton himself helping in spare time. Newton watched the young pair at first with a delightful sense of playing fairy godfather. Demps was sprightly—wonderfully quick at figures. He should have an engineering course—two years of it at least.

Newton had been quite sincere—yet came a May morning that showed him different. A sunlit Sunday morning, with Ellie upon her knees, picking big red strawberries gemmed with dew. Came revelation as a blinding flash—here was the woman he had sought vainly all his thirty-five years. He must go away at once—else he might betray himself. He might even lapse into the treachery of trying to supplant Demps. So artfully he got a telegram calling him a thousand miles away, made ready, and set out upon the good horse that had brought him. Half a mile from the gate he was pulled from saddle, brought up standing with a jerk to see Demps glowering murderously at him. "Runnin' off, are ye?" he said through set teeth. "Leavin' Ellie to break her heart for ye? I reckon—NOT."

"I'm going because I love her," Newton gasped.

"Then you come back with me and tell her so," Demps said masterfully. Newton went—and all three, let us hope, lived happily ever after—for Demps found a mate of his own sort in the end.

COMMUNITY PICNICS CAFETERIA STYLE

Community Picnic, Cafeteria Style

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The time-honored community picnics that featured cakes, pies and other rich foods and left children and grown-ups alike with indigestion the next day, have been abandoned in many parts of the country in favor of the picnic with a balanced menu. Such a picnic tastes better, is easier to prepare, and leaves everybody happy. It requires some planning ahead, however. Instead of suggesting that each homemaker bring what she happens to think of to the community picnic, a menu is decided on by a committee, and then each woman is asked to prepare some one or two dishes. Then when all the parts of the meal are assembled it is well proportioned and carries with it a real lesson in meal planning.

The cafeteria style of service is another up-to-date feature in community picnics. The illustration, which was taken by the United States Department of Agriculture, shows the women of Summit community, Benton county, Oregon, putting this idea into practice. The menu includes everything that goes to make a well-balanced meal indoors or outdoors and yet the foods were in such simple form that nobody had been overtaxed. There are several kinds of fruits and vegetables, two meat dishes, bread and butter, milk for the children, and a fruit drink for everybody. Everybody had some choice, and yet was fairly certain to get enough of the right kinds of foods.

Hot dishes are not so easy to manage at picnics as other foods, but with careful planning some kinds can generally be brought in good condition if the distance is not too great. Here are some that might be brought: casseroles, meats, stews, creamed chicken, chipped beef, eggs, or fish; meat loaf; scalloped potatoes, or other vegetables. A fire can almost always be managed for heating up soup which has been made beforehand or for cooking bacon, frankfurters, or steak.

Almost any kind of a fruit, vegetable, or meat salad can be served at a picnic. It is oftentimes better to bring the different foods in separate containers and mix them with the dressing just before the salad is to be served. To go with such a salad bread and butter is better than elaborate sandwiches. Many different kinds of bread can be used for variety, however: Rolls or biscuits made with white or graham flour; date, nut, or raisin bread, rye bread, Boston brown bread, and so on.

For beverage, lemonade, orange and other acids in season, grapefruit juice, hot or iced tea or coffee for the adults, and milk or milk shakes for the children.

For dessert ice cream or sherbet brought in freezers is generally most popular with everybody. A combination of cut-up fresh fruits, however, is also delicious. For instance, sliced fresh or canned pineapple, strawberries, or raspberries and sliced orange is a combination that grows better in flavor if it stands for a few hours. Cookies, cup cakes, or loaf or layer cakes in just enough quantity to go with the ice cream or fruit gives a finishing touch.

Allow the pressure to rise until the gauge registers the pressure that indicates the desired temperature.

Count time from the moment the desired temperature and pressure are reached.

Maintain a uniform pressure during the processing period by regulating carefully the source of heat. Fluctuations in pressure, as from 10 pounds to 15 pounds and down again, are to be avoided in any case, and when canning in glass may result in loss of liquid.

A sudden drop in pressure through cooling or release of steam may also cause this. It is especially important to avoid having the pressure go so high that the safety valve releases the steam suddenly, nor should the steam be allowed to escape suddenly by opening the pet cock.

At the end of the processing period remove the canner from the fire and proceed according to the following directions adapted to jars or cans:

When canning in glass jars, allow the canner to cool until the steam gauge registers zero before opening the pet cock, and even then open cautiously. This is to prevent too sudden a drop in pressure, which would cause the liquid to blow out of the jars, even though already sealed. Invert the jars, allow them to cool as quickly as possible to room temperature, and do not stack them while they are still hot.

When canning in tin, open the pet cock wide at once and allow the steam to escape rapidly. Remove the cans from the canner and plunge them into cold running water if possible, or if this is not available change the water as soon as becomes warm. The more rapidly the cans are cooled the less danger there is of overcooking the product. Watch carefully for air bubbles that indicate imperfect sealing. Leakers should be opened, the contents heated and repacked in other cans, and processed again as at first.

To Clean Gas Burners

To clean clogged burners on a gas stove, take the burners out of their sockets and brush off all loose dirt. Then place them in a large kettle or pan that will not be injured by washing soda. Boil them for about half an hour in a mixture of one-half pound of washing soda added to each gallon of water. Rinse and brush the burners, wipe them with paper or cotton waste, fit them into the stove, and dry them thoroughly by lighting the gas.

Temperature for Milk

Milk should be kept at or below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. If held at temperatures above 50 degrees Fahrenheit, the growth of spoilage organisms soon produces changes which render it unfit to be used as food, especially in the case of children.

Exercise Caution in Operating a Steam Pressure Canner.

The rack that holds the jars. Be sure that there is enough to prevent boiling dry during processing.

When the canner has been filled, adjust the cover and fasten securely. In case the cover is fastened by several clamps fasten moderately tight those opposite each other, one pair at a time; then go back over the whole set and tighten each pair.

See that no steam escapes anywhere except at the pet cock.

Allow the pet cock to remain open until steam escapes from it in a steady stream for at least three minutes, indicating that no air remains inside.

Then close the pet cock so that only a trace of steam can escape. Some persons prefer to close the cock entirely, particularly with small canners in which a great loss of steam is to be avoided because of the danger of boiling dry.

The Revised Hammarlund-Roberts Circuit

In reviewing the long line of circuits which have forged to the front in recent months, each one with its own special attributes claiming their due amount of attention, one cannot neglect considering the very popular Hammarlund-Roberts. Built up around the older famous Roberts reflex, it won immediate approval, and in its present form is satisfying its countless users. Yet, when one looks over this circuit, just as with others, there is the constant urge for improvement, revision, modification, and slight alterations to make it better. The Radio Broadcast Magazine laboratory, in experimenting with the Hammarlund-Roberts version of the original Roberts circuit, has tried out numerous changes with the idea of improving the circuit. Some of the changes merely consisted in replacing the dials with those of a vernier type while other changes were made in the actual circuit arrangement.

According to John B. Brennan, technical editor of Radio Broadcast, who describes the changes in a recent issue of that magazine, it was found that the substitution of a different form of regeneration in the detector circuit, in place of the variable tickler method, would permit smoother control. It would also eliminate the changing field set up by the variation of the tickler coil position. The method found to be most successful, and involving the least number of changes, was the condenser-feedback regeneration system, involving only the addition of a small variable condenser of the midjet type, and a radio-frequency choke coil.

Removing the Parts.

In making this change, the entire detector coil unit is unsoldered from its connecting leads and removed from the panel. Then the tickler coil and its shaft are removed by simply cutting off that part of the bakelite strip which supports the shaft and its bearing. The bushing, located on the top of the bakelite mounting strip, is removed from the cut-off section and, by means of a 6-32 machine screw, is fastened at the bottom of the mounting strip. This screw replaces the one used to hold the coil between its insulated support strips. Now, at that end of the secondary coil at which the NP coil is located, a tap is made, 13 turns from the bottom turn. This tap may be just below the letter "S," which indicates the secondary of the detector coil, on the accompanying diagram.

The detector coil may now be laid aside. A 15-plate Hammarlund midjet condenser is mounted in the hole formerly taken up by the shaft of the tickler coil. When this is accomplished, the detector coil mounting holes are "spotted" on the main panel. These holes are drilled and countersunk for the 6-32 machine screws which screw into the mounting bushings on the coil unit.

To obtain regeneration satisfactorily with these alterations, it is necessary to include a choke coil in the audio-transformer primary circuit. The choke is employed to keep the radio-frequency currents out of the transformer primary circuit so that the only path for these currents to take is through the capacity element employed for regeneration. This choke coil may be mounted on the sub-panel in the place left vacant by discarding one of the parallel audio-stage sockets, as is explained later. It will be noted that the bypass condenser employed to shunt the primary audio-transformer has been eliminated from the circuit.

At Reduced Volume.

Many times it is found advisable to operate the receiver at reduced volume. In its original state, the only way to accomplish this was to increase the value of resistance in the filament circuit of the radio-frequency amplifier tube, or loosen up on the regeneration or sensitivity control. Quality sometimes suffered when the former method was employed. Selectivity and sensitivity suffered in the latter. As a final refinement for volume adjustment, and also as a tone control, the rheostat and fixed resistance for the radio-frequency amplifier stage are removed. In the audio-amplifier circuit, their volume control functions are taken over by employing a variable high resistance of the value of 500,000 ohms in shunt across the secondary of the first audio-transformer. One of the objects of this shunt resistance lies in its tendency to give the amplifier a "flatter" characteristic, that is, all frequencies will be amplified alike. To make it possible to change readily from the last audio stage to the first audio stage required nothing more than inclusion of a jack in the primary circuit of the first stage audio-transformer. At the same time it was found desirable to have some automatic means of turning off the last audio-amplifier filament when the phones were used on the first stage. Filament circuit jacks did the trick. To employ this type of jack in the circuit shown, sometimes necessitates alterations being made to the jacks obtained, however. In the circuit described in the Radio Broadcast Magazine article, two No. 105 Carter jacks were taken apart and the blades rearranged so as to correspond with the blade positions as shown in the accompanying circuit diagram. As a final circuit change, Mr. Brennan recommends that one of the parallel tube sockets in the last audio stage be removed and its amperite wired in the circuit to control the radio-frequency stage. Then in the remaining last stage socket a UX-112 or UX-117 tube is employed as a power stage. It will be found that the grid-plate shunt condenser for the last stage may be removed when the power tube is employed.

How Radio Photographs Are Sent Through Air

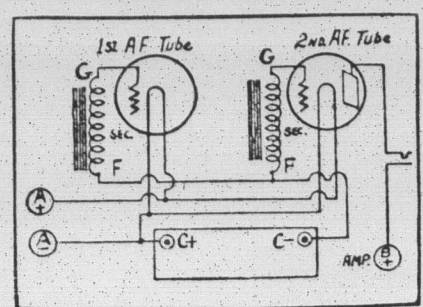

Radio photographs are sent by means of a photo electric cell which converts the light values of the photograph into electric current. This modulated electric current is then put on a radio carrier wave, which is picked up at a receiving station. The incoming radio signals operate on an ink pen which puts dots of different size on a white paper. The grouping of these dots, and the size of them, makes up the picture somewhat similar to the half-tone dots of the illustrations in the newspapers, which can easily be seen under a reading glass.

Some Hints on Care of Your Portable Outfit

Here are more simple rules to take care of a portable receiver on vacation trips: Be sure all wires are tightly soldered and the receiver works perfectly before it is taken on the trip. Carry a couple of extra vacuum tubes and spare dry cell batteries if the trip is one which makes it impossible to find a supply base at a reasonable distance. Handle the loud speaker with care and see that all aerial and ground connections are made just as good as possible.

Insulation of Enamel Suitable for Antenna

If the wire of an antenna is not protected from the air it will corrode, raising the high-frequency resistance, and reducing the signal strength. Insulation of enamel has been found suitable covering and will give better results. Copper wire corrodes quickly when it is exposed to the air. When the wire is first erected it is seen to be bright, but in a few days it becomes dull due to the corrosion which occurs.

"Passing the Buck"

This expression, which means shifting responsibility, is supposed to have originated in the card room. In various card games a counter or marker is placed on the table before one of the players to remind him of his turn to deal. This marker, which is to prevent mistakes as to the position of the deal, is called the "buck" and is passed from player to player as the turn to deal goes around. In poker a marker is sometimes put into a jack pot, another jack pot being in order when the deal passes to the player having the buck.—Pathfinder Magazine.

These Better Days

It is irksome, of course, when your host insists on showing you how many stations he can get on the radio, but think of the days when the visitor to the family circle was expected to admire the portraits in the photograph album.—Boston Transcript.

QUEEN VICTORIA LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Two Famous Women Born the Same Year

In the year 1819, two babies were born whose lives were destined to have a far reaching influence. One was born in a stern castle of Old England, the other in a humble farmhouse in New England.

Queen Victoria through her wisdom and kindness during a long and prosperous reign has become enthroned in the hearts of the British people. Lydia E. Pinkham through the merit of her Vegetable Compound has made her name a household word in many American homes.

One of the many women who praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Mrs. Adolph Bratke of 4316 South 13th St., South Omaha, Neb., who was in a rundown condition for four years before she tried the Compound. "I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," she writes, "and I have felt my health steadily improving." Mrs. Bratke continued to take the Compound for a year and a half and at the end of that time she found herself in excellent health. "I am feeling fine now and do all my work myself," she wrote in her most recent letter. "I am the mother of six and manage an eight-room house without anybody to help."

STYLE PROCLAIMS TUNIC BLOUSE; JUNIOR MIDSEASON MILLINERY

IT REQUIRES more than one blouse or tunic to complete a stylishly appointed wardrobe. A blouse for every occasion is not an extravagance, but rather an evidence of careful thought. A sports blouse for outings and practical wear, a suit-blouse for one's tailored street costume, a dressy blouse or tunic, gay in coloring, to wear over one's plaited black satin princess slip or a handsome lace tunic which is the preferences are being given a very definite recognition. There is the matter of choosing one's hats, for instance. Nowadays juvenile, junior and Miss Subdeb are invited to visit a special section or salon, if you please, which is distinctly their own realm where millinery designed by specialized talent is displayed in a very tempting array.

mode's latest word, these and a few extras for one's white plaited skirt are none too many if one would be dressed at a moment's call.

The latest sports blouse, which after all is not so much a blouse as a waistcoat type, is made of checked linen twilling with a plain back and just below-the-shoulder sleeves, which is almost equivalent to saying sleeveless.

To wear over a black plaited foundation choose a tunic of striking color. One cannot grow too reckless in the matter of bizarre coloring. The model in the picture features a gorgeous embroidery done after the manner of the handwork and colorings which so glorify the Spanish shawl. Some stylists go so far as to add fringe, which further emphasizes the ling hats shown in this picture reveal the fact that millinery for the younger generation is vastly interesting these days. In each model the spirit of youth is maintained and there is every evidence that infinite care and attention is being lavished on millinery for the growing girl. To be sure, the first is made of quilted silk after the manner of grown-up's smart styling, but somehow the designer has contrived to adapt it to the school-girl age.

In the top model to the right silk is again the medium, although this time it is corded and tucked—which goes to show the importance of the all-fabric hat.

A generous bow of hemmed taffeta gives a girlish aspect to the hat below to the left in the group. The off-

Spanish influence. Note in the picture that the girl shows a plaited panel. This is something new and matching the skirt as it does the tendency is to give the impression of a compose costume rather than a separate blouse and skirt.

If you have never owned a lace tunic or blouse do not let the season go by without acquiring one. They are a real asset in one's collection.

An outstanding enthusiasm among the youth of this day is that of self-expression. Nor is it a mere theory confined to classroom discussion. In the commercial world, as well as in every other walk of life, youth and its individual needs and the-face effect given by the plaiting of taffeta across the front assures becomingness.

Very colorful is the large hat to the right. The crown is formed of knitted visca in brilliant yellows, greens and blues offset by a brim facing and a rosette of shirred satin, which may be of any bright shade desired.

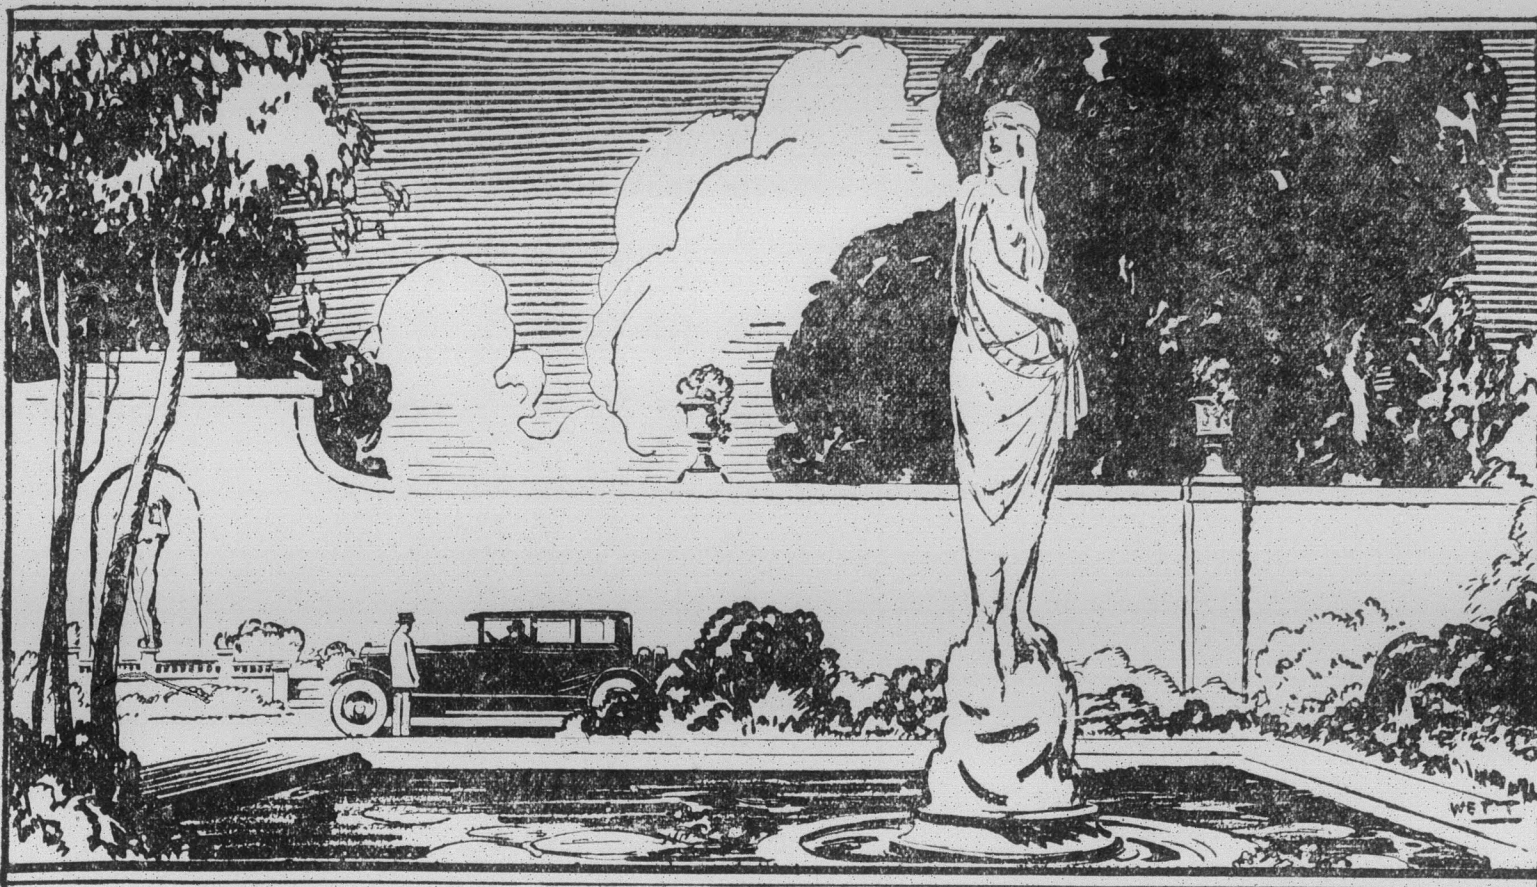

Leghorn, that ever faithful friend of youth, appears to picturesquely advantage when crowned and bound with silk and embellished with tiny handmade flowers such as one sees in the concluding hat of this group.

Cemeteries in Turkey Made Social Centers

One of the gayest and most colorful spots of Constantinople is the cemetery. Not only is it a garden where shady cypress trees form an ideal cool retreat for hot summer days, but it is filled with flower-beds, little pagodas, winding paths, green lawns and refreshment peddlers, says the Atlanta Constitution.

It is a sort of social center. Maids take their charges there for an afternoon's outing. It is a rendezvous for the officers of the garrison with the little coquettes from the city. CALIFORNIA PARADISE TWENTY-EIGHT NATIONS REPRESENTED AT UNIVERSITY BUILT BY MME. TINGLEY

The following translation of an interesting article by "H. Z." published in the "Wurzbürger General Anzeiger," has been forwarded to "The Beach News" by Mr. Iverson L. Harris, traveling secretary to Mme. Katherine Tingley, who is on a lecture tour in Europe:

Californian Visit to Wurzburg
Katherine Tingley, known in America and also in Germany as the friend and helper of the Germans, will also visit Wurzburg; among them Gottfried von Purucker, one of her chief Cabinet officers, a specialist on the philosophy of Theosophy, and Professor of Divinity, Sanskrit, Hebrew and Greek at the Theosophical University, Point Loma, California, of which Katherine Tingley is the Foundress-Directress; Prof. Dr. von Purucker is of Bavarian descent of one of the oldest out-German families.

With Katherine Tingley's party there will also arrive the international author, Talbot Munday, as well as Dr. Rolf Hoffmann, who was called to Point Loma in January, this year, where he is professor of German literature and philosophy.

Katherine Tingley herself is a friend of humanity in word and deed, and the uplift of Germany is one of her chief desires; for years her endeavors have been directed along this line in America. The following furnishes a brief idea of her view of life:

"She says that everyone has a right to happiness, to true living. This will be put into practice, if we select the path of sympathy for the suffering of humanity, convince people by unselfishness that egoism will bring no happiness and war no permanent peace.

The happiness and blessedness that this manner of living has already brought is proven to us by Katherine Tingley in her life work, the university at Point Loma, which she built and maintains. There the following institutions are conducted according to her idea: schools for boys and girls, a Greek amphitheatre, a conservatory, and a state-licensed university.

This university is attended by students from twenty-eight different nations. It may be further stated that Point Loma has its own printing office; and owns manual training shops and art studios. Here can be found artists, musicians, and authors of renown. Dramatic art is also intensely cultivated there.

Katherine Tingley's view of life appeals to us Germans very much and reminds us in the open-heartedness of her ideas, of what Richard Wagner used as the basis for his

Florida and California

At the July meeting of directors of the Hollywood (Florida) Chamber of Commerce the following endorsement of an editorial in the "Hollywood News" of July 3 was unanimously passed:

Occasionally one sees in a Florida newspaper a story uncomplimentary to California. There is seldom a legitimate excuse for knocking the Golden Gate State. It is a great commonwealth, rich in resources, climate and good citizenship. During the past few years some remarkable cities have been constructed upon California soil. Many thousands of acres of rich land have been reclaimed and California is building solidly into American life. Derogatory propaganda from Florida concerning California will ultimately hurt Florida.

If the great stream through which American commerce flows is polluted in any section of the country, the pollution will soon wash against other shores—against Florida shores. That is one of the inevitable climaxes attending evil stories. The tiniest wave on the farthest coast will ultimately dash against the shores of our own coasts. The slightest trembling of the earth in California is given great prominence under newspaper headlines in certain sections of the country and one is led to believe that California is a dangerous place in which to live. It is the business of the associated press and other news-gathering organizations to telegraph the news to every quarter of the world, but the headlines and the managing editor too often distort the news with scare headlines, and headlines printed in a spreading way have their psychological effect upon human minds.

A slight earthquake in California is not nearly so destructive as a cloud-burst in a mountainous section. Cyclones in the middle west are more dangerous than earthquakes in California.

Southern Florida and southern California should be friends. There is no reason why the two sections should be enemies.

The Arcadia Arcadian says editorially that Florida has naught but kindly feelings for California, that the two states have much in common, that their wares are of different makes and texture and that both cater to the tourist and are anxious that he has a good time. That statement is true, even in detail. Florida and California should co-operate and coordinate; they should not quarrel.

There should be cultivated in this state a kindly feeling for California. Certainly, no good can be accomplished through cancer.

Probably some of these days citizens here and citizens there will realize that while we are far away, we are very close to each other and that we have a community of interests.

Florida can help California and California can help Florida. The one, blizzing away at the other, misses the mark and wastes its ammunition.

productions. Point Loma could be compared with a Gralsburg.

It is to be hoped that this friend and helper of the Germans will find our beautiful historic city on the main very pleasant, and that she will take with her to her California paradise the best impressions from Wurzburg.
